Guests can explore 29 international food and beverage marketplaces inspired by cultures from around the world, with limited-time menu items introduced throughout the season to bring new flavors and experiences on repeat visits. Menus rotate regularly throughout the festival, giving guests new dishes and drinks to discover with each visit.

New for 2026, the festival debuts eight new marketplace concepts, including Old Fashioned Milk Co. presented by Undeniably Dairy, Travelers Café, Half Pipe Pavilion, Cantina, Lucky Cat, Mediterranean Wine, Brews presented by Florida Avenue Brewing Co. and Hops and Dreams presented by Wicked Weed.

Fan-favorite dishes throughout the season include buttery lobster rolls, barbecue pulled pork mac and cheese, Brazilian churrasco steak with chimichurri, Polynesian Huli Huli chicken, rich butter chicken, Southern-style shrimp and grits and sweet Mediterranean baklava, alongside other fresh, limited-time creations. In addition to global bites, the festival highlights homegrown flavor with craft beers from Central Florida breweries, including Central 28, Florida Avenue Brewing Co. and Crooked Can.

At the Old Fashioned Milk Co. marketplace presented by Undeniably Dairy, guests can indulge in classic dairy-forward treats, including milkshakes, rich dessert cupcakes and indulgent specialty cocktails like espresso martinis and White Russians, along with spiked and nonalcoholic milk-based favorites. This partnership highlights the role dairy plays in creating memorable, flavor-filled experiences for families and guests.

"Dairy has a special way of making great food even more delicious, from rich, creamy flavors to the comforting classics people love," said Senior Vice President Patrick Haller of Florida Dairy Farmers. "We're proud to continue our partnership with SeaWorld Orlando and highlight the versatility and flavor of dairy at the Old Fashioned Milk Co. marketplace during the Seven Seas Food Festival, where dairy takes center stage."
